- Man:* Hi, Sara! I haven't seen you for ages! I thought you'd stopped exercising here.
- Woman:* No, Jack, I still do, only I moved two months ago. My parents bought a house in the country. Luckily I didn't have to change schools.
- Man:* You must be happy to live far away from the city.
- Woman:* I am because we've got a big house but it's not so easy for me to come here now. I don't like going by bus so I usually have to wait for my dad to give me a lift.
- Man:* Would you like to work out in the gym first?
- Woman:* Sure. And then we can go downstairs to the swimming pool.
- Man:* Good idea. What time is your dad picking you up?
- Woman:* He couldn't wait for me today so I'm taking the 8.20 bus.
- Man:* You know what, let's go to a café after swimming and then I'll drive you home. My mum has lent me her car. I'll only have to let her know I'll be back later.
- Woman:* Thanks, Jack.

Man: My name is Greg. I'm English. Five months ago my family and I moved to New Zealand because my dad got a new job there. When my parents told me we were moving, I felt sad. But I was also really excited because it was going to be a great adventure.

One week before we were going to leave England, a big van came and took all our furniture and possessions, so they could be sent to New Zealand. On the last day of school one of my friends brought a cake in and they all said goodbye to me. I wasn't happy, but I understood that I had to go with my parents. I had no choice.

And now I'm in New Zealand and I'm really enjoying my new life! I miss my friends and grandparents, but I often contact them. I made friends quickly, probably because I went to a camp with my new class.

If you ever move abroad, remember – it may turn out to be a great adventure!

Man: I live in the suburbs of Cardiff. The roads aren't that bad around where I live. They are quiet, except for a few hours a day when people travel to and from work. It never takes me and my friends more than a minute to cross the busiest roads.

Wypowiedź 2.

Woman: I know that there are areas where many people drive too fast. My friend who lives in the centre of the city gets really angry when drivers don't let him go to the other side of the street at zebra crossings. In my opinion, more should be done to stop drivers speeding!

Wypowiedź 3.

Man: I live near London, next to a motorway. There are plenty of main roads where I live, so it's quite noisy and polluted, and there is a lot of traffic. But I like it. And as for the smaller roads, there are a lot of accidents on them all the time, but I wouldn't like to move.

Wypowiedź 4.

Woman: When I'm walking to school, I have to cross a busy road. There are zebra crossings, but not everyone stops. Crossing any road is a nightmare, because there are cars parked all the way up the road and buses trying to get to and from the bus park. And there's me trying to walk to the other side of the road.
